

Dr Xavier appointed as a trainer by DermaFocus to teach medics in the safe use of their polynucleotide injectables for skin and hair regeneration.

Dr Xavier has trained and lectured to thousands of medics over the last 17 years throughout the UK, across Europe and further afield!

His teaching skills have again been recognised by being commissioned to host a series of training courses in polynucleotide injection treatments (Plinest™, Newest™ & Plenhyage™) for DermaFocus.

The training courses are hosted at his clinic in central Southampton as well as in central London and focus on the safe use of polynucleotides in the face, neck, decolletage, hands and for hair stimulation.

Polynucleotides work by stimulating fibroblasts in the skin to repair damaged and aged cells through a series of injectable treatments and they are now an essential regenerative tool for practitioners looking to enhance aesthetic results.

In our clinic we love the results we get!
For more information, please call us on 02380637638 for a free information pack.

