Dr Xavier Celebrates 22 Years of BCAM Membership and Recently Appointed to Examinations Panel

Dr. Xavier is proud to mark 22 years of membership with the British College of Aesthetic Medicine (BCAM), having joined the esteemed organisation in 2003, just two years after its founding.

Originally known as the British Association of Cosmetic Doctors (BACD), BCAM has grown into a leading authority in the field of aesthetic medicine.

Over the years, Dr. Xavier has contributed to BCAM, serving as a Board committee member, speaking at numerous annual conferences, and even taking on the role of conference organiser. His ongoing dedication to advancing the field of aesthetic medicine led to a recent new and prestigious appointment - Dr. Xavier has joined BCAM's Examinations Panel, where he will help set the rigorous exams for Associate Members aspiring to become Full Members of the College.

BCAM is dedicated to promoting safe and ethical aesthetic medicine for the benefit of both medical practitioners and the public.

The College advocates for high standards of patient care, provides a unified voice for doctors and dentists, and collaborates with government bodies to enhance regulation within the aesthetic medicine sector.

Dr. Xavier shared his thoughts on his appointment:

"From the earliest days of my medical aesthetic career, I recognised that BCAM played an important role in setting and maintaining standards in a very unregulated sector. I am proud to be a member of such an important organisation and delighted to contribute to BCAM's efforts again as part of the examination panel."
